

Zollar Says Boozers In Senate 'Disgusting'

BY RALPH LUTZ
Staff Writer

The Michigan Senate recessed for the holidays Friday in what Republican Sen. Charles Zollar called, "The most disgusting exhibit of democratic government in action that I have ever seen."

Zollar leveled his blasts at Senate Democrats, saying they put pre-Christmas partying and politics ahead of the energy crisis and election campaign reform.

Zollar said there usually are some instances of apparent intoxication on the Senate floor, but the numbers "were excessive" Friday.

The Senate shelved three of Gov. William Milliken's most important programs. They included new powers to confront the energy crisis; campaign disclosure legislation; and creation of a giant Department of Human Resources. The latter would consolidate the present Department of Social Services, Public Health and Mental Health units.

Zollar, tired and angry in his Benton township home Sunday, voiced doubts that action would be taken soon after the Senate reconvenes next Jan. 9. He noted that next year, senators and the governor are up for election. The House already has passed the key programs.

On the apparent intoxication on the Senate floor Friday, Zollar called pre-Christmas partying among Democrats as a mask for political treachery. The physical condition of some of the members was an obvious attempt to block legislation attributed to the governor.

"It was a blatant political move, and there was no attempt to hide it."

Zollar said if the Democrats would have voted for or against the proposed legislation, at least it would have been resolved. The energy bill was in conference committee and needed 20 votes to get it on the floor, Zollar said. The votes were along straight party lines, and the GOP cast 18 votes to get it on the floor and the Democrats 17 against. Gov. Milliken, following the recess Friday, voiced his own blast at Senate Democrats, saying they played politics with vital issues, while putting their heads in the sand.

Zollar didn't mention any Republicans as being intoxicated Friday. But one Democratic senator, Basil Brown, of Highland Park, was arrested in East Lansing Friday night on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He was reported to police as "a man either ill or drunk," seated in a car at a drive-in restaurant, according to a Detroit newspaper.

Following Friday's recess, Senate Democratic leader George Fitzgerald of Grosse Pointe Park, was quoted as saying his party had half a dozen caucuses on the energy bill and election financing legislation, but claimed that the governor gave the most important parts

Sen. Brown Faces Second Charge Involving Booze

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State Sen. Basil W. Brown, D-Highland Park, has been arrested for the second time on charges of public intoxication and disorderly conduct.

East Lansing police said he will be arraigned Dec. 28.

Brown, 46, already was scheduled to stand trial Jan. 14 on a drunk driving charge stemming from an arrest last May by East Lansing police.

The latest charge came Friday after police received complaints a man was either drunk or sick in an auto behind a drive-in restaurant, according to officer R.W. Bishop.

Bishop said Brown was released on $100 bond, posted by Lansing attorney Frederic S. Aboud, more than two hours after his arrest.

The drunk and disorderly charge is a municipal violation.

Brown has been convicted once for drunken driving and has had his driver's license suspended twice, according to police.

DRUG NET SNARES 18 IN CASS COUNTY

Police Say 3-Month Probe Involves Marijuana, Hard Drugs Sales

DOWAGIAC — A three-month investigation into drug traffic in Cass county led to the arrest of 17 persons and one juvenile as the result of early morning raids near here today, according to Cass county Sheriff James Northrop.

The arrests were made by the sheriff's department with assistance of the Dowagiac city police and the Edwardsburg-Ontwa township police.

Five of the 18 were arrested at two homes where officers made simultaneous raids early today while the others were taken into custody at their homes or downtown locations.

According to Northrop the raids were staged at two homes in the Twin Lake area, northeast of Dowagiac and a large amount of suspected narcotics confiscated. The suspected drugs included marijuana as well as what are known as "hard" drugs.

Search warrants to enter both houses, said Northrop, were authorized by Prosecutor Michael Dodge.

Arrested on sale charges were Ronald Allsop, 26, Edwardsburg; Gary Becht, 22, Union; Charles Collins, 22, 209 Pokagon, Dowagiac; Tina Collins, 19, 207 Pokagon, Dowagiac; Debra Diamond, 17, 107 Jones, Dowagiac; Kevin Lyle, 21, route 2, Decatur; Early Miller, 17, route 3, Bristol, Ind.; Jim Robinson, 18, Union; Mike White, 21, route 3 Edwardsburg; and Debbie Yuhus, 18, Dowagiac.

A spokesman for the sheriff's department said the sales included marijuana as well as "hard drugs." The spokesman said information on specific charges against each was not available until processing was completed.

Arrested for being disorderly persons by being keepers of a house where narcotics are sold were Douglas Lee Barger, 21; Carl Vylonis, 23; Charles LaPorte Jr., 24; Mike Straw, 20; and Sherrie Cobb, 19; all of route 3, Dowagiac.

A 16-year-old Dowagiac girl was also arrested for sale of narcotics.

As a result of the investigation two other persons were arrested by St. Joseph county sheriff's department on narcotics charges. They were Timothy Miller, 19, and his brother, Donald, 20, both of route 2, Constantine.

Sheriff Northrop said several persons are still being sought on warrants charging sale of narcotics.

Those arrested early this morning are expected to appear in Fourth district court today for arraignment. The juvenile was petitioned into probate court. All were lodged in jail following their arrests.

GREAT LAKES GIANT: The Presque Isle, largest tug-barge in the world and equal in length of the largest vessel on the Great Lakes, is on maiden voyage from Erie, Pa., to pick up iron ore cargo at

Two Harbors, Minn., and transport it to Gary, Ind. The 975-foot long barge is propelled by powerful 152-foot pusher tug that fits and locks in notch at rear of barge.

Biggest Tug-Barge Ever Goes To Work On Lakes

ERIE, Pa. — Litton Industries' 1000-foot long tug-barge — a $35 million vessel believed to be the largest tug-barge in the world — sailed on her maiden voyage at 10:00 a.m. Sunday, it was announced today by Ralph W. Biggs, Jr., vice president and general manager of Litton's Erie Marine division.

The Presque Isle left the Erie Marine yards at Erie, Pa., on her first 900-mile trip to Two Harbors, Minn., to be loaded with 50,000 tons of iron ore pellets. She will transport this cargo to U. S. Steel corporation's plant at Gary, Ind., expecting to arrive there on Dec. 22.

At Gary the Presque Isle will offload her cargo at rate up to 10,000 tons per hour, utilizing her 250-foot unloading boom. A single load will provide enough ore for the manufacture of more than 10,000 medium-size automobiles.

The Presque Isle will be at work under a long-term transport contract with U. S. Steel corporation, carrying ore from Two Harbors to the company's plants in Gary and south Chicago. The tug-barge will complete the 1700-mile round trip in less than six days until winter ice on the lakes will oblige her to remain in port, in late January or February. The Presque Isle then will return to service after the 1974 spring thaws on the upper lakes.

The barge, built in Erie Marine's yards, measures 975 feet long by 105 feet wide, with 28½-foot draft. The pusher tug, built to Litton specifications by Halter Marine Services, Inc., in New Orleans, is 152 feet long by 54 feet wide by 7½ feet high. The pusher tug fits and locks into a specially designed notch at the stern of the barge. The tug's two 7500 horsepower marine engines, manufactured by Hawker-Siddeley, propel the huge tug-barge at a speed of 15 miles per hour (or 13 knots).

Captain of the tug-barge is Bill E. Jefferey, a veteran mariner with more than 30 years service on the Great Lakes and (during World War II) in the Atlantic and Pacific service. He is a native of Duluth, now resident in Carlton, Minn.

Captain Jefferey will command a crew of 14, about half the size of conventional lakes freighters. A reduction in personnel was made possible by the automation of much of the vessel's operating machinery.

Biggs noted that the only other vessel of equal size on the Lakes is Bethlehem Steel's Stewart J. Cort, also built by Erie Marine.

The integrated pusher tug barge is the first such type of vessel on the Great Lakes. The only other vessels of this type in the United States are a couple of 600-footers operated on the Gulf of Mexico. Other barges used on the Great Lakes are of the tow type and the largest currently are around 300 feet, according to lake shipping authorities.

German Plane Hijacked

Guerrillas Attack Rome Airport

ROME (AP) — Palestinian commandos threw an incendiary bomb into an American jetliner at Rome airport today, fired submachine guns and hijacked a German plane with hostages, police reported.

Unconfirmed preliminary reports said 10 persons were injured.

A customs officer and an American were reported in critical condition.

Police said the hijacked Lufthansa Boeing 737 with the guerrillas in command took off for an unknown destination. Officers said they were in radio contact with the craft.

The incendiary bomb at the airport set a Pan American World Airways Boeing 707 afire. Flames engulfed the jetliner's nose.

Travelers and airport employees ran in panic. Police ordered the airport evacuated.

Officers said the three-man guerrilla group struck after landing in an airplane coming from the Middle East. But they did not specify which country.

The attack came four days after five Arabs went before a Rome court accused of plotting to strike down an Israeli airliner with rocket launchers found during a raid on an apartment.

Authorities said they were uncertain of the identities of the hostages aboard the hijacked German jet. But they expressed belief the captives included two airport workers, two policemen and others besides the plane's crew.

A Lufthansa spokesman in Frankfurt, Germany, said no passengers remained aboard. He made no mention of any demands from the guerrillas.

"Their destination was not known," the spokesman added.

A Pan American spokesman in New York said the damaged Pan Am 707 had stopped over in Rome on a flight from New York heading for Beirut, Lebanon, and Tehran, Iran.

He had no information whether any passengers had been injured.

Flight Training Is Saving Fuel

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Cutbacks in operations at Oklahoma military bases are already achieving energy conservation.

Tinker Air Force Base reports that pilots are using flight simulators twice as much as they had been in the past to replace in-flight training. Aircraft fuel has been cut by one-third, said Brig. Gen. James G. Randolph, Tinker commander.

Public Must Learn Energy Crisis 'Real'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's energy chief says his biggest job is persuading the public that the energy crisis is real.

William E. Simon, head of the Federal Energy Office, said Sunday the crisis will continue even if Arab nations resume oil shipments to the United States.

"We have been on a collision course in energy requirements and demands for many years," he said. "In 1970 production peaked ... but energy needs will double between 1973 and 1990."

In an interview on the CBS television and radio program "Face the Nation," Simon said the federal government must persuade the public the crisis is not the creation of politicians and oil men.

He praised citizen cooperation in the shortage. "I have found a response on the part of the American people to the problems that we have that has really in my mind been predictable," he said. "The American people meet problems in a typically patriotic way. I think they have been doing a great deal."

However, he said the public still needs to end its wasteful ways.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, agreed with Simon that energy problems will remain even if the Arab embargo is lifted. Jackson said imports, particularly from Saudi Arabia, would not be sufficient to meet U.S. needs. The shipments were cut off to protest U.S. support for Israel.

The immediate shogate is "the critical one that can only be solved by belt tightening," Jackson said on the ABC program "Issues and Answers."

Jackson blamed the oil companies and the Nixon administration for failing to heed experts' warnings in 1971 about the impending crunch.

Refineries were not operated at capacity and the administration

Thank You, Good Fellow Newsies

It's no secret whatever that without the Newsie sale neither Good Fellow drive in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph would amount to much.

This afternoon effort on the Friday most conveniently situated to Christmas represents 60 per cent or more of the money collected for those down on their luck.

So it is only natural we have a high regard for the Exchange Club, the St. Joseph Lions Club, the Bridgman Lions Club and their auxiliary forces which they line up to lend a hand.

Going in to last Friday's sale, the Newsies and ourselves had our fingers crossed.

Nobody was certain of the customer reaction, what with the gasoline and furnace oil squeeze, daily contradictory statements from Washington on the affairs of state, trucker road blocks and other didos not calculated to cause peace of mind.

The mini edition of The Herald-Press and The News-Palladium posed another question as to its acceptance.

The newspaper shortage forced both papers to go the small scale route instead of running off extra copies of their regular editions. Buyer reaction to past experiments with that system had raised some caustic comments.

Since this is being written on Saturday morning when the money count is still under tally, we won't express the results by dollars and cents, but simply by grammatical summary — terrific.

Members from LMC's Sigma Delta sorority and Alpha Phi Omega fraternity took the gap between the Bridgman and St. Joseph Lions.

Each group selling The Herald-Press mini edition set a new record and totally they pulled in more than the campaign's overall goal.

The Benton Harbor high school's Key Club members went out with the Exchangeites.

This combination pulled in the best dollar content for The News-Palladium's coffers since the 1969 Newsie sale which was a whooper dooper.

We would need an extra edition to put down the experiences which the Newsies met three days ago, but think one sample from each side of the river can capsize the all round feeling.

Said Dick Riel who with Craig Taylor and Chuck Knipchild II parlayed The News-Palladium effort, "People really had the Christmas spirit."

Miles Henning, a member of our advertising staff, took a day from his vacation to sell The Herald-Press. He was manning the front door of The Peoples State Bank's main office. A stranger came up to him to inquire what the sale was all about. Following a brief explanation from Miles, the chap peeled off five $10 bills for a baby paper.

These events and countless others occurred during several hours of challenge to human endurance.

Once in a blue moon the Newsie sale hits decent weather. Usually it takes place in cold, wind, rain or snow, or a combination of those difficulties.

Friday was a singles. It was just plain bitterly cold.

But our Newsies stuck it out. It's something, in our book, for anyone to face the elements for somebody else when it would be so convenient to look out from a window at the weather.

Grateful as we are to our volunteers, it must be remembered it requires customers if salesmen are to shine.

So to everyone who forked over a coin or a bill or a cheque, thanks a million on behalf of your ultimate customers.

Mao Nears Anniversary Of People's Republic

Rumor has it that he smokes like a chimney, drinks like a fish, works weird hours, and cannot control his hand and lip movements. That may or may not be true. It is beyond dispute, however, that he is the third most powerful man on earth after Richard M. Nixon and Leonid I. Brezhnev. He is, of course, Mao Tse-tung, leader of the People's Republic of China, who shortly will celebrate his 80th birthday anniversary — Dec. 26.

Mao is even more of a fabulous invalid than is the Broadway stage. In the early phase of the Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution, reports of the chairman's death reached the West. But Hsinhua, the Chinese news agency, said on July 25, 1966, that Mao had swum "an hour and five minutes and covered a distance of 15 kilometers in the Yangtze River" nine days earlier.

To buttress that claim, the Chinese government released a photograph showing Mao and four others in the water and another of the chairman wearing a bathrobe and waving from a launch. Soviet Sport, a Russian newspaper, noted wryly that Mao's time, 65 minutes for 9.3 miles, was considerably better than the world record. The paper invited Mao to take part in the next international swimming competition.

Few people are poking fun at Mao Tse-tung as he nears his ninth decade of life, still very much in control of the world's most populous country. He weathered the Cultural Revolution as handily as any previous crisis, and his international stature has never been higher. President Nixon's trip to China in 1972 was considered a diplomatic triumph for him — but it was no less so for Mao, his host.

Still, the Chinese-American detente is little more than a marriage of convenience at this stage. In the customary joint editorial carried on New Year's Day in Peking by the People's Daily, Red Flag, and Liberation Army Daily, it was proclaimed a year ago: "The present international situation is excellent... The small and medium-sized countries are uniting on a broader scale in opposition to the hegemonism and power politics of the two superpowers, the United States and the Soviet Union."

Because of the recent dramatic shift in Chinese-American relations, a number of historians have been playing the game of what-might-have-been. In an essay published last year by Foreign Affairs, Barbara Tuchman recalled that Mao and Chou En-lai had offered, in January 1945, to confer with President Roosevelt in Washington.

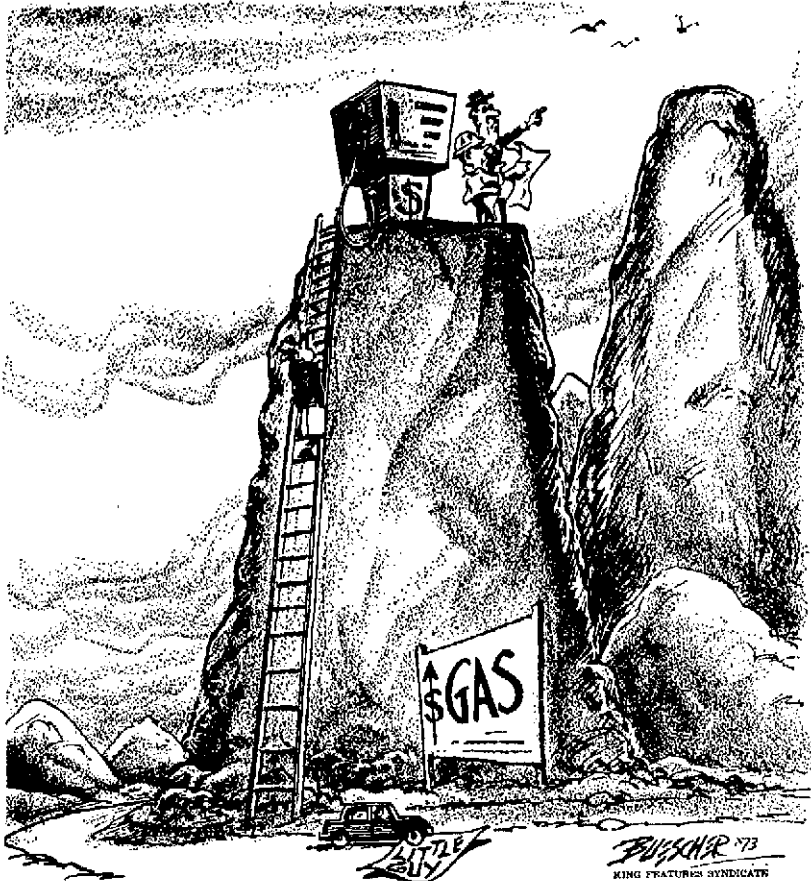

The offer was ignored, but what if it had been accepted? Tuchman wrote that "...it is conceivable that there might have been no Korean War with all its evil consequences. From that war rose the twin specters of an expansionist Chinese communism and an indivisible Sino-Soviet partnership. Without those two concepts to addle statesmen and nourish demagogues, our history, our present, and our future, would have been different. We might not have come to Vietnam."

Both China and the United States have suffered their share of internal upheavals since 1945. But through it all Mao Tse-tung has kept a tight hold on what the Chinese call the mandate of heaven. And if he lives until next October, he will preside over the 25th anniversary of the People's Republic he founded.

Big Climb

GLANCING BACKWARDS

ST. JOSEPH TOPPLES UNDEFEATED NILES

— 1 Year Ago —

St. Joseph put a big feather in its cap here Friday night. Coach George Gaender's proud Bear cagers put all five starters in double figures while knocking off previously undefeated Niles 78-66. Tom Scheffler tallied 22, Dan Griswold 18, Rick Cerecke 15, Mark Schense 13 and Don Ciarravino 10 as St. Joe won its third straight while posting its biggest victory margin over the Vikings in 14 games.

"Anytime you beat Niles you do a job," beamed Gaender while savoring the victory. "They've been improving steadily with each ball game and a coach can't ask for more than that. It's been a long time since I've seen five starters in double figures."

RAILROAD CARS JUMP TRACKS

— 10 Years Ago —

Thirteen cars of a 68 car Chicago to Grand Rapids freight train jumped the track near here early today causing substantial damage and blocking direct Chesapeake and Ohio rail traffic between the two cities. No one was injured when train number 30 lost the cars at the Lemon Creek rd. crossing a mile north of this city.

The derailment caused a number of passengers on a Grand Rapids to Chicago C and O train early today to make the trip by bus from Benton Harbor, local officials said. Grand Rapids district train dispatcher Jack Adams said the west-bound train held up in Benton Harbor, C and O number 7, also was carrying mail which would have only a slightly delayed delivery.

BARODA DOWNS CARD QUINNET

— 29 Years Ago —

The Baroda Bulldogs came through with their first victory of the season last night, handing the local Cards their fourth set-back in a row by a 40 to 28 margin.

A fast-breaking attack in the first two quarters of the game by the Bulldogs set the Stevensville cagers too far back to threaten in the last half. Baroda took a ten to five edge in the initial period and widened the gap to lead 26 to 9 at halftime. L. Tollas of Baroda took the scoring honors for the evening with 15 points with center Don Bartz racking up 11 points to lead Stevensville's efforts.

FEELS BHHS CHoirs NEGLECTED

Editor,
I was deeply hurt when I saw the picture of the Saint Joseph high school Choir (December 14; page 16) in the newspaper, because of the lack of publicity the Benton Harbor high school Choirs receive. A few nights ago a letter was published on the Madrigals of B.H.H.S., but we also have three other active choirs too, the Concert Choir, Octava Choir and Tiger Chorale. I feel these choirs have been neglected by your newspaper.

Only one time last year, one choir was represented in your paper. I, a member of the Madrigals and of the Concert Choir, feel your newspaper should show more enthusiasm in Benton Harbor high school choirs. I would like to see some pictures and action of these choirs.

STUDENT BACKS PRESIDENT NIXON

Editor,
I don't think President Nixon will resign or be impeached. I don't think President Nixon will resign because he has great interest in his country. That's why he is President. He wants to help his country and make it all the better.

President Nixon will not be impeached because the American people know that Nixon is trying. I think the American people should back the president more than we are. I'm sure he is suffering from all these crises and needs our moral support.

CONTRADICTIONS ARE CLAIMED

Editor,
Your letter, Mrs. Boss, in reply to Mr. Wendt, will not be very effective because it contains too many blatant contradictions. Item — "Government is not controlling".

It has now become the working policy of our Federal government that the citizens of this country are no longer able and competent to direct their own lives and actions, whether an individual or a large private enterprise, and that government alone knows how to manage our economy and culture. (Read collectivism.)

Item — "Wars are historical accidents."

There is no such thing as you know if you had any knowledge of historical process. Every war, ever fought in all of recorded history, was planned and fought deliberately and with malice aforethought.

Item — "Mr. Nixon's spending has been for the people's benefit."

It isn't Mr. Nixon's spending but congressional spending. Every dollar expended by any government agency must first be appropriated by the Congress. When government spends to benefit one group of people, it is at the expense of some other group. The incompetent benefit at the expense of the competent. It is an indication of our governments' idiotic financial theories that in less than 50 years the Congress has delivered the nation into such a monumental bankruptcy that in all probability it will never absolve the national debt.

Item — "Flexibility by men in government."

Any elected or appointed individual in government who does not base his actions on a code of honor, justice and fairness is not flexible — he's treacherous.

Item — "Dealing with the communities to insure world peace."

This is one of our administrations worst blunders. Communists are not interested in peace or individual freedom and liberty. What they want is absolute control over the lives of men. It is their outspoken goal and will use every means of trickery and deceit to achieve it.

There is no difference between socialism and communism. The slave state that exists in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics is simply socialism carried to its logical and ultimate end.

If as you say, all governments desire freedom for their people why do the Soviets expend so much effort to maintain a slave state — prison camps, slave labor camps and the Iron curtain.

Nixon Loyalty Is Small Umbrella

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Dozens upon dozens of people linked directly or indirectly to President Nixon have been paraded before the public in the long Watergate case. He has defended only two: his former top aides, H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

When these two resigned on April 30, the President told a national television audience that they were both "fine public servants" and he has more than once expressed the conviction that ultimately they will be freed of all charges in Watergate and related matters.

As the self-acknowledged commander of the so-called "plumbers' unit" set up in the White House to delve into alleged national security matters, Ehrlichman is currently under indictment for complicity in the celebrated California break-in at the offices of the psychiatrist of Daniel Ellsberg, who turned loose the "Pentagon Papers."

No specific charge rests upon Haldeman. He has told his story to the Watergate grand jury, and, before the Senate Ervin committee, openly denied the key Watergate role laid to him by former White House counsel, John Dean.

It is not at all clear, however, that Haldeman is safe from future formal charge.

Last spring, while still in his post, Haldeman went to Capitol Hill and told a small group of Republicans (in a private session guaranteed to produce leaks) that he accepted responsibility for the broad campaign attack plans the Nixon people employed in 1971-72. He said that they had gotten out of hand. The Haldeman-Ehrlichman resignations were forced upon the President because the public statements of so many persons involved in Watergate suggested their entanglement.

What we really know of the Nixon-Haldeman-Ehrlichman relationship in the subsequent months is not much, but it is interesting. It hints sharply at continuing ties.

Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler, responding to a newsman's contention that presidential contact with Haldeman by telephone was regular and that he was in effect still advising Mr. Nixon, conceded Mr. (Ziegler) had talked to Haldeman a "few times."

Lawrence Higby, a former Haldeman aide now squirreled away in a small Office of Management and Budget cubbyhole as a deputy, testified in Judge John Sirica's court that Haldeman in mid-November knew of the missing 18-minute Watergate tape segment. Higby said Haldeman instructed him to get the latter's notes on the affected time period (June 20, 1972) and later read them to him over the telephone. Haldeman had the combination to the safe where the notes were kept.

The safe was under Secret Service guard in the Executive Office Building adjoining the White House. Yet it is obviously significant that Haldeman retained a high degree of control over his own files there, months after leaving office.

Nor can it be forgotten that, far back in May after Haldeman and Ehrlichman had left office but well before either had testified at the Senate, they and their personal lawyer, John S. Wilson, met with the President privately in the White House. No one knows what went on.

Tax Returns Show Skinflint In Nixon

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's complicated financial statement may not have resolved all the legal questions, but it did confirm one thing: The President's charity begins — and virtually ends — at home.

By the customary standards of Americans with strong religious and moral beliefs, the President is a skinflint when it comes to supporting charitable causes.

During his four years in the White House, Nixon has nearly tripled his net worth to become a millionaire, largely through real estate investments and his $250,000 yearly salary with expenses. But out of that he shared with good works or religious organizations merely an average of $3,370 annually. In the last tax year, he donated only $235 to worthy causes.

Once again, the President is in the embarrassing position of having urged ordinary people to make sacrifices and do things which he himself is not prepared to do. He has condemned those who do not pay a fair share of Federal income taxes, yet he paid about the same tax for three years as a typical worker earning $15,000 yearly. He has championed faithful obedience to the laws, yet he permitted the only organized crime in history to be operated out of the White House. He has called for a curback in private transportation and home heating, but he still uses helicopters and airplanes at will and maintains three energy-using residences in addition to the White House.

During his Presidency, one of Nixon's favorite themes has been to urge that private citizens should help themselves and others less fortunate rather than rely upon the Federal Government for assistance.

"As the nation's first citizen, the President should be the chief patron of citizen efforts," Nixon declared in his 1968 campaign. "In a Nixon Administration, there will be a new measure of reliance on voluntary efforts, and a new level of official public recognition of their immense contribution to the betterment of life in America," he promised.

Nixon said in his 1973 Inaugural Address that he believed the government's role was no more important than "the role that each and every one of us must play, as an individual and as a member of his own community."

The President has performed comparably to other modern Presidents in posing for pictures with representatives of various charity fund-raising drives and exhorting the public to support good works. And he apparently believes that his verbal contribution eliminates any further substantial moral duty.

The 1970 Census does not provide statistics for average charitable deductions to churches and worthy causes in the President's high income bracket. Individuals earning $50,000 yearly or more, however, averaged $4,100 in such donations.

It is standard practice for the religiously devout to tithe, which is a yearly church contribution of 10 per cent of net income. By that measure, the President falls short by roughly $20,000 a year.

N-P Good Fellows $67 Over Goal

Many People To Have Happy Christmas

All was right for The News-Palladium Good Fellow fund today. The fund was over its goal of $7,500 and stood at $7,567.12.

"That's going to assure a happy Christmas for many who otherwise would have an uncertain holiday," said a jubilant Santa Claus.

The fund went over the top after press time Saturday when the last coins were counted from the Exchange club Newsie sale, and the mail brought more good tidings for the fund.

Heading the list of mail receipts was $100 from the Blackstones, a Twin City area legal firm that once a year adopts the name of the famed English jurist Sir William Blackstone to join the ranks of Good Fellows.

Also in the mail was $10 from Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Hickman in memory of Gary and Lorraine Hickman.

The 1973 Good Fellow Exchange club Newsie total climbed to $4,544.49. Ralph Frost brought in $167.86 — the results of the Exchange club's Night Riders tour which ended up with a 3 a.m. breakfast. And also credited to the sale were checks of $25 from Hall of Cards and Books and $20 from Helaine's.

"The Newsie sale was a mighty effort in these times of uncertainties," declared St. Nick. "There is gloom over shortages and various crises seem to mount. But the goodwill of Good Fellows at Christmas held fast.

The old gent went over the results of Friday's Newsie sale and observed that the biggest check was $250 from Whirlpool Corp. The sale also produced $100 checks from Michigan Standard Alloys and Modern Plastics.

Biggest surprise of all was a $100 Farmers & Merchants National Bank money order signed "Santa Claus, North Pole." And it's as good as gold.

The Benton Harbor Kiwanis club tossed in $50 and so did Latowich Brothers.

Santa also counted these checks for $25 — Kaywood Division, Soper Manufacturing Co., Berko Electric Manufacturing, Gerbel & Seeburger, Industrial Electric Co., Sandvik Steel Inc., Terry's, and Martin Brothers Mill and Foundry Supply Co.

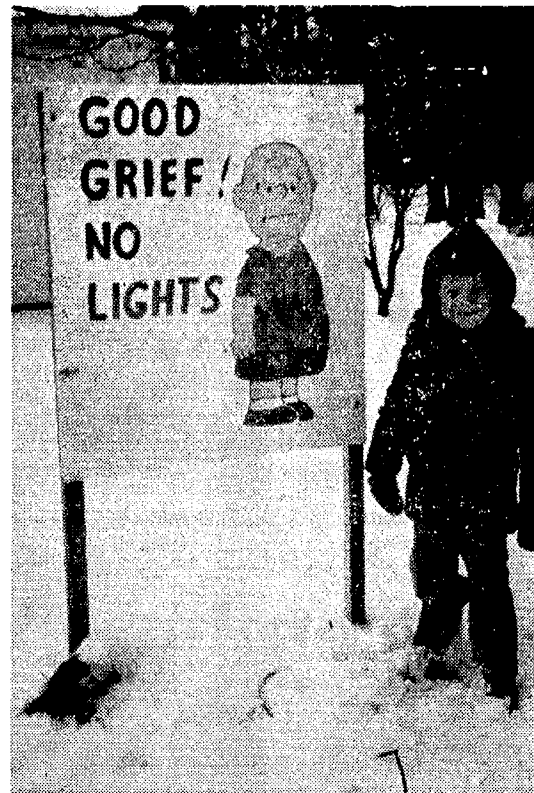

Twenty-dollar checks were received from Lewis L. Filstrup, Excel Chemicals & Service, Jeffrey S. Schmidt, DDS, and O.K. Electric Shop.

There were 15-dollar checks from Blossom Lanes and Exxon Service.

And $10 checks were received from these donors: Dan Chapman, Burton H. Pearson, Dr. Stanley Mesirov, Herkner, Smits, Miskill & Merrifield; Benning & Company, Dr. Edward N. Keegstra, Seidman & Seidman, Dr. E. R. Schwarz; Globensky, Gleiss, Henderson & Bittner; William T. Parks, Sears Roebuck & Co., Ronald G. Wilson, Tri-County Bookkeepers, Rahn Shoe Company, Florin Funeral Service.

Santa Claus found it impossible to thank all contributors individually but said:

"They have made it a brighter Christmas for many."

ICB Assets Up By 11 Per Cent

Inter-City bank, headquartered Benton Harbor has reported record assets of $94 million, 11.2 per cent over year-end 1972, according to Eitel O. Eberhardt, president and board chairman.

Total deposits stand at $83.5 million, up $8.4 million from the end of 1972.

Eberhardt also announced an increase in interest for four-year certificates of deposit, from 7 up to 7 1/4 per cent.

All existing four-year CDs at ICB will receive the higher new interest retroactive to certificate issue date.

Future Teachers Elect

COLOMA — Coloma high school's Future Teachers club officers for 1973-74 have been announced by Victor Wier, high school principal. They are Janet Arent, president; Tina Page, vice president; Shirley DeGroot, secretary; Linda Hansen, treasurer and Marc Hettig, historian. Dieter Lohrke, high school instructor, is faculty advisor for the club.

NEW LAWYERS: Two graduates of Notre Dame law school were admitted to practice of law in Michigan by Circuit Judge William S. White this week. Mowitt Sherman Drew, Jr., right, will join his father in Donahue & Drew law firm in Niles. Dennis Wiley, left, now associated with Atty. James K. Jesse in Buchanan, will join army in January and serve with Judge Advocate General Corps for four years. He plans to return to Buchanan to resume practice after military hitch. (Staff photos)

Christmas Story Hours

NILES — The Niles Community library will hold its pre-school story hour Christmas parties Dec. 18 and 19 in the children's room. Regular story hours will resume the week of Jan. 7.

FORT ST. JOSEPH SITE: Excavation and reconstruction of Fort St. Joseph in Niles has been given top development priority by historical division of Michigan department of state and Niles recreation board. Digging is expected to start as early as next summer at possible site of fort on lowlands along east bank of St.

Joseph river, just north of this historical marker on Bond street. Reconstruction of fort, built in 1691 and burned to ground in 1781, is part of proposed St. Joseph river park to extend about 1 1/2 miles from Main street bridge downtown south to fort site. (Staff photo)

Good Fellows In Holiday Mood

H-P Charity Fund Tops $5,000

Herald-Press Good Fellows pushed the fund over the $5,000 mark over the weekend.

The whole performance the past three days including the record-breaking newsie sale and the outstanding generosity of those who send in their gifts unsolicited makes Good Fellow fund officials both happy and amazed. Good Fellow officials are somewhat chagrined, too, that they ever doubted the success of the drive.

Now comes the task of preparing the gifts so that they will reach the hundreds of families and individuals before Christmas eve.

The 1973 Good Fellow fund today has received $1,494.51 in advanced gifts and $3,597.38 through the newsie sale of last Friday. There will be a few more dollars credited to the newsie sale as salesmen pick up late gifts. But right now the total is $5,091.89.

Then too there will be additional gifts by mail. All of the funds go out in the form of Christmas presents.

Weekend mail and messenger brought in $44.30 from Whirlpool's dishwasher, disposer Commercial and international engineering department; $12.25 from North Lincoln third grade with class president Terry Bohanek and vice president Deanna Deaton making the presentation in person in the name of their classmates.

Arlo and Irene Rowe sent in $10 and $10 came from Laundry Group EDP at Whirlpool. Anonymous slipped in $1.

Holland Construction Co. with Marie Holland remembering because Curly is pretty busy, sent $100.

The mail also brought $10 and warm Florida greeting from an "Absent Lion" and $10 from "A Nitz family from Baroda."

Stevensville Man Injured In Benton

A Stevensville man sustained minor injuries early Saturday when the car he was driving ran off Pipestone road near Napier avenue, state police from the Benton Harbor post reported.

Ronald John Meckes, 29, 2177 Jeffery street, told police the car went out of control about 12:05 a.m. after the rear wheels locked on his car. Meckes was taken to Memorial hospital where he was treated and released. No ticket was issued.

No Gas Shortage On Way North

DETROIT (AP) — There was gasoline for sale Sunday at every major freeway exit on I-75 along the 240-mile route north to the ski and snowmobile resorts, a survey by the Detroit Free Press revealed.

Most of the service station owners interviewed vowed to stay open on future Sundays unless forced to close by law.

A few said they had a surplus of gasoline and may close in the weeks ahead because they can't sell enough gasoline on Sundays.

Richard Ulrich, who operates three Standard stations in the Clare-Harrison area, is one of those who said they have a gasoline surplus, since his stations are along a route north replaced for the most part by a new road this year.

He said he decided to stay open because "we closed up one Sunday and drove down to Detroit. I looked around and everybody was open."

He said next week he'll start keeping his station open 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

A group of ski club members from Fort Wayne, Ind., said Sunday at Boyne Mountain they had no trouble finding gasoline during their auto trip north.

'Trip' Conducted By Space Voice

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

John (Shorty) Powers, the original voice of the astronauts, took season ticket holders of the Twin City Camera club on a visual trip to outer space Sunday.

Powers' "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" will be presented again this evening and tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the St. Joseph high school auditorium.

The program, shown only to season ticket holders, marked the 25th year of the club which began in 1949.

Powers, knowledgeable about navigation in space and an aviator in the Air Force for many years, got lost on the way from his motel to the high school. The presentation was delayed more than a half-hour.

Once underway Powers outlined the brief history of space travel in America for his audience with the use of slides interspersed with his colorful commentary.

A 30-minute movie entitled "On the Shoulders of Giants" detailed the progress of space exploration from the early 1960's to the present. The film, the highlight of the program, centered around the Apollo 12 moon flight.

Powers added the film may have captured the last American on the moon if the space program does not keep strong financial support, essential for its growth.

The color presentation included many shots of the Apollo 12 space crew and their activities on the moon. Powers pointed out the film was not an assimilation, but actual footage of the astronauts taken in outer space.

The final moments of the program were dedicated to the future of space exploration. Powers estimated that before the turn of the century man will be able to visit other planets and space stations which will be set up throughout the galaxy.

In conclusion, he pointed out man will discover the real by-product derived from space exploration will be not only an enormous amount of scientific knowledge, but peace among men on earth.

As he put it, outer space and the planets should not be controlled by one nation, but must be shared, explored and enjoyed by all people.

McKee Hoping Undefeated Niles Will Turn Tigers On

BY JIM DELAND
Sports Editor

KALAMAZOO — What turns Benton Harbor's basketball team on?

If playing top-flight opposition is what it takes, the Tigers will not lack for motivation Tuesday when they take on undefeated Niles at the Colfax gym...and coach Earl McKee hopes his team will rise to the challenge.

"We've got to find some life somehow," McKee sighed here Saturday after watching the Tigers even their season record at 2-2 by rolling to a 75-50 victory over Kalamazoo Central. "We're happy to win, but we'll have to play better than this to beat Niles. They're gonna be tough."

McKee altered his starting lineup for the first time this season Saturday and employed a wide variety of player combinations, but only once did he seem to hit on one that really clicked.

That took place in the third quarter when he sent junior guard Edward Albert onto the court, switched Jettie Rice from guard to forward and moved the Tigers into a full-court zone press.

They promptly ran off a string of nine straight points and outscored the Maroon Giants 21-6 over a seven-minute stretch to expand their lead from a shaky 31-29 to a solid 52-35.

In the process they pressured Kalamazoo into 15 turnovers during the period with Gary Phillips, Keith Seaborn and David Adkins all playing a part in the effective swarming defense.

Whether the Tigers will be able to employ this three-guard lineup against the taller Niles team remains to be seen, but it provided the only really bright moments of the game, although Benton Harbor did go on to outscore the demoralized Maroons 23-11 during the fourth quarter.

"I was thinking of using a zone against Niles because their guys on the inside hurt us," McKee said, "but now I don't know. If we do, we'll probably press with our guards."

"I don't think they'll use that zone against us," said Niles coach Dean Adams, one of several rivals who scouted the game. "Weaver (Bill) would love that corner shot they're giving up."

Fortunately, none of the Kalamazoo players was able to hit from outside with any consistency, and it was only some easy rebound shots by forward Dave Dame and center Johnny Williams that kept the Maroons in the game during the early going.

Dame finished the game with 14 points and Williams had 10, but guard Greg Davis with 12 points was the only other

Maroon to reach double figures and he hit only 6 of 22 shots.

Veteran guards Rice and Phillips had 19 points apiece for Benton Harbor while Seaborn scored 11 and Albert 10 — all during the third-quarter surge.

Seaborn also plucked off 18 rebounds and Phillips grabbed 10 to help give the Tigers an eventual 62-54 advantage on the boards.

The overall quality of play is reflected in the total of 66 turnovers (Kalamazoo had 38) and 80-so shooting by both teams.

Benton Harbor hit 32 of 82 shots for a .373 average — the Tigers' lowest of the season — while Kalamazoo sank only 22 of 72 for a .306 average.

The victory did end a string of five straight losses to Kalamazoo over the past six years and leaves the Maroons with a 1-5 record this season.

Coach Paul Wilhite's Tiger Cubs made the evening a complete success by remaining undefeated with a 66-50 triumph in the preliminary game.

Benny Bowers and Ray Thompson led the way with 18 points each and Russell Steele chipped in 11 more.

Denver 'Trick' Fails, O.J. Runs To Record

Fake Punt Failure Helps Raiders Into Playoffs

From Associated Press

The Oakland Raiders are in the National Football League playoffs for the sixth time in seven years. And one reason is they were ready when Denver Coach John Ralston gave it the old college try with a trick play he used when he coached at Stanford University.

And while things went wrong for Denver in its bid for the club's first playoff appearance, everything went right for Buffalo's O.J. Simpson in Buffalo's 34-14 victory over the New York Jets. Simpson became the first man to rush for 2,000 yards in a single season — and he even picked up two yards after the game was over when NFL statisticians rechecked and found an error.

Denver was trailing 14-10 in the third quarter of its game for the American Conference West title at Oakland and was without starting quarterback Charley Johnson, who was injured, when Ralston ordered a run off a fake punt-on-four down with the ball on the Denver 48. The play was stopped for no gain, and Oakland moved quickly to its clinching touchdown in a 21-17 victory.

Three other teams gained the playoffs on the final day of the regular season — Cincinnati outlasted Houston 27-24 to win the AFC Central; Dallas blasted St. Louis 30-3 to win the National Conference East; and Washington topped Philadelphia 38-20 to earn the NFC wild-card berth.

Next weekend's playoff pairings are:

—Saturday: Washington at Minnesota, the NFC Central Division winner that trounced the New York Giants 31-7 Sunday, and Pittsburgh, the AFC wild-card team that beat San Francisco 37-14 Saturday, at Oakland.

—Sunday: Cincinnati at Miami, the defending Super Bowl champion and AFC East winner that blanked Detroit 31-0 Saturday, and Los Angeles, NFC West king and 30-17 winner over Cleveland Sunday, at Dallas.

In other final-day action, Atlanta edged New Orleans 14-10; Kansas City trounced San Diego 33-6; Baltimore nipped New England 18-13, and Green Bay downed Chicago 21-0.

Oakland's victory sets up a playoff rematch against Pittsburgh. The Steelers beat the Raiders 9-7 in 1972 postseason play when Franco Harris grabbed a deflected pass and ran for a touchdown in the closing seconds.

Bills 34, Jets 14

"It's unbelievable isn't it," said Simpson after smashing Jim Brown's season rushing record of 1,863 yards. The two yards found in the recheck gave Simpson 200 on 34 attempts, making him the first man to gain at least 200 yards three times in one season in NFL history, and boosted his total to 2,003.

Simpson, ran 13 yards for a touchdown, broke Brown's record midway through the first quarter, and then broke the 2,000-yard barrier with a seven-yard run with 5:56 left in the game. Joe Namath passed for both New York touchdowns.

Bengals 27, Houston 24

Cincinnati built a 27-10 lead with Ken Anderson throwing three touchdown passes, including 77 and 67-yard hookups with Isaac Curtis, and then withstood a late Houston rally.

Cowboys 36, Cardinals 30

"We're still basically a running team," said Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach who did a lot to change that image by passing for 256 yards and three touchdowns against St. Louis.

Rams 30, Browns 17

Two Rams set team records and John Hadl passed for two touchdowns against Cleveland, Los Angeles Coach Chuck Knox had other things on his mind — "Right now, tonight, tomorrow and the rest of the week we'll be thinking about Dallas."

The club record setters were kicker David Ray, with three field goals and three conversions for a season total of 130 points, and Lawrence McCutcheon, who ran for 83 yards for a total of 1,097. The 12 victories, against two losses, was also a Rams' record.

Redskins 38, Eagles 20

"We just weren't getting execution before (Sunday)," said Washington running back Larry Brown after gaining a total of 255 yards against Philadelphia and catching three of Billy Kilmer's four touchdowns passes. "We got it today."

Vikings 31, Giants 7

Fran Tarkenton's clutch passing and two interceptions, which set up touchdowns, keyed the victory for Minnesota, as the Vikings tied a club best with a 12-2 record.

Falcons-Saints

Atlanta, which had beaten

New Orleans 62-7 in the season opener, got by the Saints this time on Eddie Ray's two one-yard touchdown runs.

Chiefs 33, Chargers 6

Ed Podolak, Jeff Kinney and Wendell Hayes scored touchdowns on short runs and Jan Stenerud kicked four field goals in Kansas City's romp past San Diego.

Colts 18, Patriots 13

Baltimore's Marv Domres and New England's Jim Plunkett each passed for two touchdowns in a driving snow, and Lydell Mitchell rushed for 142 yards on 34 carries for a Baltimore club season record of 963.

Packers 21, Bears 0

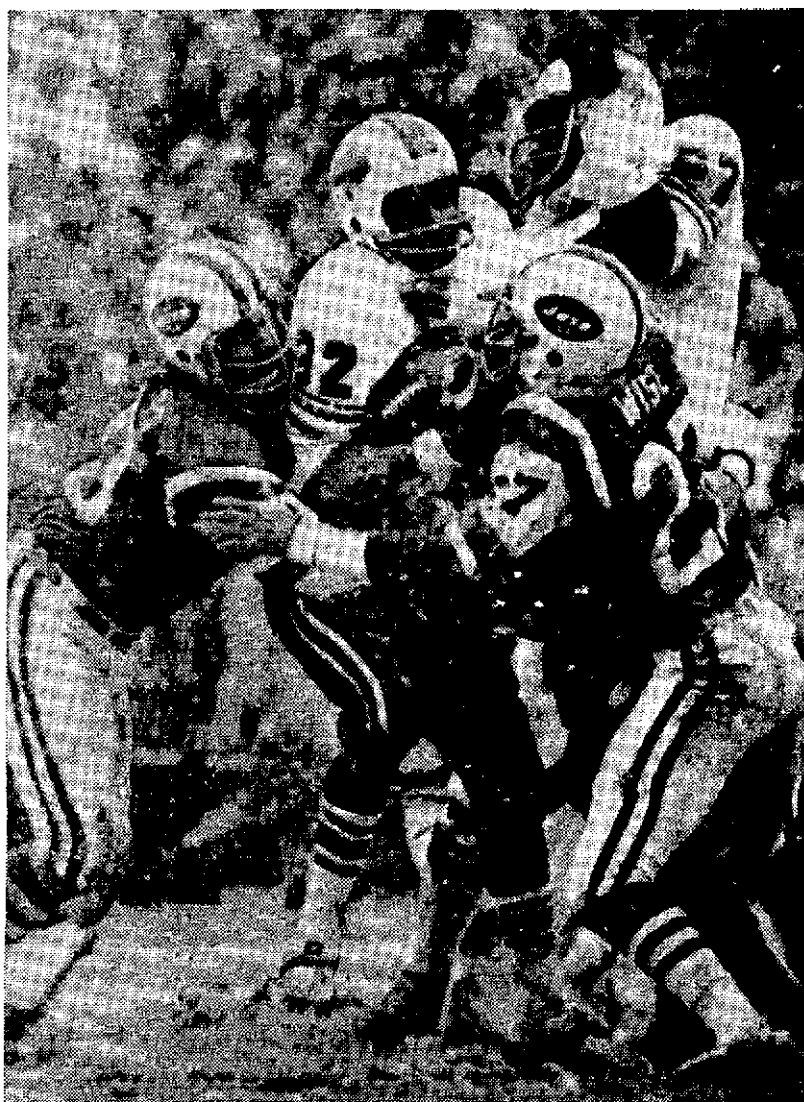

Green Bay's Jerry Tagge threw his first two touchdowns passes as a pro and John Brockington rushed for 142 yards against the punchless Bears.

Steelers 37, 49ers 14

John Rower scored one Pittsburgh touchdown with a 71-yard run after intercepting a John Brodie pass and Terry Bradshaw accounted for another with a 30-yard toss. Brodie saw action for the last time with the 49ers, having announced his retirement.

Dolphins 31, Lions 0

Bob Griese hit Paul Warfield with four touchdown passes in the first half, causing Detroit coach Don McCafferty to quip: "I was trying to get the officials to call the game at the half, but they told me they couldn't."

RARE STOP: Buffalo Bills' star O.J. Simpson wasn't stopped often while setting NFL rushing record Sunday, but this was one of those rare occasions as Phil Wise (27) and John Elliott (left) of the New York Jets drag him to halt despite efforts of guard Reggie McKenzie (67). Simpson gained 200 yards in game and finished season with total of 2,003. (AP Wirephoto)

Devine's Status Uncertain

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Dominic Olejniczak, president of the Green Bay Packers, declined comment Sunday on reports the National Football League club's executives voted to retain Coach Dan Devine.

He was asked about a broadcast report that he had polled the seven members of the executive committee Friday, and had then told players the committee voted to honor the remaining two years in Devine's contract.

"I have nothing to talk about," Olejniczak said Sunday.

"I am going to Chicago tomorrow, and have no press release at all. Maybe by the middle of the week I will."

The report by a Milwaukee television station said some members of the committee were upset by the poll attributed to Olejniczak, and that Olejniczak had asked that the vote be kept secret.

Two committee members, asking that they not be identified, said they knew nothing about a meeting between players and Olejniczak.

"I am very surprised about the whole thing," one of them said. "If he did have a meeting, he did it on his own and nobody polled me."

Another said: "I have my opinions, but I can't say anything now. I just wish the whole thing" about Devine's status "would come out."

Devine concluded a third season with the Packers Sunday, having been under increased fan censure because the club plunged from title contention in midseason by losing five of six games.

Having won a division title last season with a 10-4 record, the Packers fell to a 5-7-2 mark this year, touching off reports of player dissension and suggestions that Devine has lost control of the team.

More Than Million Fans Stayed Home

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 1 million ticketholders stayed away from National Football League games this season, the first under the lifting of the television blackout, a league spokesman said Sunday night.

This final weekend of the season had an estimated 190,000 no-shows, according to the NFL.

The highest number of no-shows this season occurred at Kansas City Sunday where 35,793 ticketholders did not turn out in 20-degree weather to watch the hometown Chiefs and San Diego Chargers.

More than 20,000 no-shows were reported at Miami, Chicago and Atlanta this weekend. An estimated 20,000 stayed away from the Minnesota-New York Giants game at New Haven, Conn.

The spokesman said the no-show figure for the season represented 10 per cent of all season tickets sold.
